

The UCLA Neurologic Rehabilitation Program in the Department of Neurology seeks one or more faculty physicians at any academic level who have outstanding skills in teaching, clinical or basic research, and patient care. Most inpatient clinical activities would take place in our new 138-bed California Rehabilitation Institute, which is near the University. Both neurologists and psychiatrists manage inpatients there. Drs. David Alexander, Andrew Dorsch, and Bruce Dobkin teach and attend and additional wet lab research is carried out by Drs. Leif Havton, S. Thomas Carmichael, and Jason Hinman.

Please contact Dr. Dobkin for further information at bdobkin@mednet.ucla.edu
