

Countdown to ASNR 2025!

We're thrilled to be holding this year's ASNR Annual Meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, and we hope you can join us there April 23-25th! ASNR 2025 will bring together a fantastic group of researchers, clinicians, and other industry professionals to share new discoveries and engage in dialogues to advance neurorehabilitation. Want to know more about what to expect at this year's meeting? Keep reading, and be sure to check out our Annual Meeting page for information on registration, booking your hotel room, the conference program, and more! We encourage everyone to register before March 31st to take advantage of cost savings with our early bird registration rates!

Our Annual Meetings are a great forum for networking, meeting experts in the field, re-connecting with colleagues, and learning about important areas of neurorehabilitation that may impact or intersect with your own work. With our single-track conference program, you don't have to worry about choosing between parallel sessions, and potentially missing out on important content. "I love going to the ASNR annual meeting each year – it is like a big family reunion! I get to catch up with old colleagues but also meet new people and establish future collaborations. It has been a pleasure to be involved in the planning and organization of this meeting. I know the attendees will enjoy the wide variety of topics and disease models that are being covered. We have a fantastic line-up, including two high impact professional development sessions that align seamlessly with our scientific program," noted ASNR Program Chair Dr. Kelsey Baker.

This year, ASNR is partnering with the Implantable Brain-Computer Interface Collaborative Community \(iBCI-CC\) to deliver an exciting pre-conference workshop in the evening on Tuesday, Tuesday, April 22nd. The workshop will include presentations and discussions surrounding clinical practice guidelines for implantable brain-computer interfaces. Attendees will learn from experts and also enjoy a delicious dinner together. You can register to attend this pre-conference workshop when you fill out your main conference registration form. The $40 registration fee covers dinner and the pre-conference programming.

ASNR 2025 will officially kick off in the morning on Wednesday, April 23rd with our Professional Development Roundtables. During this session, attendees will rotate through tables to join in on dynamic discussions surrounding a variety of topics relevant for neurorehabilitation. Each table will have an assigned topic and conversation will be facilitated by an expert in that area.

Our scientific symposiums showcase a broad range of perspectives, including presentations from clinicians, clinical researchers, basic scientists, and individuals with lived experience. The symposia cover many different approaches and methods, such as behavioral economics, artificial intelligence and computational modeling, clinical trials, integrating lived experience, electrical and magnetic stimulation of the brain and spinal cord, and implantable brain-computer interfaces.

The ASNR Education Committee has also worked with our Program Committee to provide two valuable Professional Development Sessions. In our first Professional Development Session, attendees will gain practical insights on how to apply data science and artificial intelligence to manage, visualize, and analyze data. Our second Professional Development session will give attendees a behind-the-scenes look at a mock scientific review section for NIH grants.

In addition to the sessions mentioned above, the 2025 Annual Meeting will include oral abstract presentations, two poster receptions, and updates from ASNR during our Business Meeting. Mealtimes and breaks in between sessions are excellent opportunities to strike up conversations and expand your network. This year, we're also excited to feature dedicated time for small group meetings and networking.

After our final symposium concludes on Friday, April 25th, attendees can break for lunch and then join us for our Off-Site DEI Excursion to the nearby Atlanta History Center. The city of Atlanta is steeped in history, and you can view artifacts and exhibits honoring notable African Americans, historic sites, and transformative events throughout history. ASNR is offering a free private guided tour of the Atlanta History Center to the first 50 people to register. You can reserve your spot for one of two tour times when you register for the Annual Meeting.

ASNR is a small and welcoming professional society, and we are always happy to talk to members, potential new members, and Annual Meeting attendees. Interested in joining or renewing your membership? Visit our website to learn more about becoming an ASNR member or renewing your membership. Also, feel free to contact the ASNR team at info@asnr.com with questions before the Annual Meeting. During the meeting, our leaders and ambassadors will wear "Ask Me" buttons to make it easy for you to get help with any questions or to share feedback. We're excited to connect and catch up with everyone at ASNR 2025 in Atlanta!
